

Walton County Government Weather Closing Protocol

In order to ensure the safety of employees and the public, Walton County Government may close government offices or buildings during extreme weather events. Certain essential government functions, including those performed by EMS, Fire Rescue, Public Works, and the Sheriff's Office will continue to operate throughout an extreme weather event.

How Is a Decision to Close Walton County Government Offices Made?

The Chairman of the Walton County Board of Commissioners will make a decision to close based on the current or anticipated condition of roads and bridges and safety and accessibility of government buildings. Every attempt will be made to make a decision as soon as possible before a closing is necessary in order to allow individuals to make alternate plans; however, weather conditions can change quickly and dramatically, and safety must take priority.
